Trotting, Pacing and Running at Hornells-

Wille.

Hornellaville, July 14.—The harness racing today was decided in straight heats. Prince L was picked by the talent in the 2:29 tret, but Grace Fonter was steadier and won easily. Budd won his second race of the week in the 2:29 pace, never being headed. The bookmakers considered him too big a favorite and barred him. Hiddenite won the running ruce, the final heat being head and head between Hiddenite and Fanslight until the half mile, when the winner slowly drew away, winning by two lengths amid great excitement. Judge Matieson says there is no truth in the story that he left the stand on Monday night because slower time was hung out than made. Summaries:

Harness Racing at Detroit.

Dernorr, July 14.—There was a vast improvement in the time made at Highland Park to-day, and it is evident that Judge Walker's threat to set a few of the drivers down had its desired effect. The 2:15 pace brought out a good-sized field, and required seven heats to actile it. The fast little Michigan horse Newton W. proved the best stayer, and made a mark of 2:114. Major Chew was in a soft spot in the 2:28 trot. Clark was made the favorite in the 2:40 trot, but Grace Darling had something in reserve. After the first heat she won easily. Summary:

Two victories over the disheartened St. Louis sail-enders yesterday enabled the New Yorks to sake quite a jump in percentage and also placed them within six points of the Pittsburgs, who were again beaten by the Brooklyns. A double triumph by Boston over Louisville also helped the champions to reduce the lead of the Cinsinnatis to thirty-six points, the Reds and Bal-simores playing a draw with darkness as the elimax. The Chicagos won their fourth straight game from the Washingtons and thereby adranced to within eight points of Hanlon's men est kind of a proposition for the New Yorks in the first game at the Polo Grounds yesterday. From the start he was pounded in every direction until Joyce's men secured such a big lead that the cranks sat back and yawned. Rusie used little or no speed, merely lobbing the ball over the plate as big as a house, but the Browns couldn't hit him enough to keep the fielders on edge. They also played raggedly in the field, and after the New Yorks had score five runs in the first inning on good stick work. Hurst's men went about their work as if they were attending a funeral. The game was stopped for about five minutes by rain in the second inning. The score:

NEW YORK, 5; ST. LOUIS, 3—SECOND GAME.
About 2,000 persons were present when the second game began. Manager Hurst felt confident that the tide was about to turn in his favor when he put Sudhoff in to pitch, and he came near calling the turn at that. Sudhoff was very effective in all but the fifth inning, when with, the bases filled, it was Van Haitren's luck to crack out a triple. Doheny, however, outpitched his opponent, and with clean backing he would have just about whitewashed the visitors. In the fourth inning, with Sugden on second and nobody out, Doheny struck out the next three men in quick order. As an illustration of his gontrol, not a bail was called on him by Umpire Lynch until two men had been retired in the second inning. Then the first ball pitched to Sugden was wide, all previous ones having been put over.

geond inning. Then the first ball pitched to bugden was wide, all previous ones having been put over.

It was at this point, too, that Doheny gave his first base on balls. Then Quinn hit to Gleason and was safe on a wild throw. As Bugden was legging it for third on the error, Joyce threw the ball over Hartman's head, and the Browns first run was scored.

The tail-enders made two more runs in the third inning. Sudhoff singled and Doheny fumbled Dowd's bunt. Stenzel also bunted, and in his dash for first collised with Joyce. The latter held the ball, in spite of the fact that he was knocked senseless and had the skin scraped off his left checkbone. So Stenzel was out, and when Joyce was able to resume play Harley brought Sudhoff in with a pretty base hit to left. Cross forced Harley and Dowd scored, after which Decker forced Cross.

During the first four innings Sudhoff let the New Yorks have one hit and no runs. In the fifth, however, he didn't do so well. Doyle pened with a base on balls, and was forced by Hartman. Grady got in a scratch, and when Doheny was hit by a pitched ball the bases were liked. Van Haltren then made the crowd happy by lining the ball to right for three bases, which, of course, tied the score. When Van reached third, though, he found it a cinch to keep on to the plate, as Carsey had thrown the ball so far over Cross's head that it rolled between the grand stand and the bleachers. Another run was made by the locals in the sixth, on Davis's base on balls, Gleason's bunt and a hit by Grady. In the last five limings the ant a hit by Grady. In the last five innings the Browns made but two hits off Doheny, and, o course, were blanked. The score:

BROGELYN, 4; PITTSBUBG, 1.
Clever work in the pitcher's box by Kennedy, sharp fielding by Tucker, and Sheckard's timely two-bagger, which sent three men across the rubler, brought another victory to the Brocklyns at Washington Park yesterday. Kennedy never pitched a better game. His control was fine, barring one base on balls, and at no time was there any danger of a rally by the visiting players. Bill threw out seven men at first base, two of the hits almost carrying the pitcher off his feet. Sheckard's two-bagges was made with two men out. McCreery made a good try to each the short drive over second base, but the ball fell just out of his reach. The score: BROOKLYN, 4: PITTSBURG, 1.

Just as racing commenced a bulletin that Santiago had surrendered led to a patriotic outburst, which was intensified when Lander's Band broke off a stereotyped selection and played "The Star-Spangled Banner." Half way through the programme a more definite announcement was cheared to the echo and the band again did its duty amid wild enthusiasm. THE LITTLE LIGHTWEIGHT FOLLOW-ING IN SLOAN'S STEPS. He Rides Continental, Tender, Autumn and Glorian to Victory at Brighton Beach-

The weather made ample amends for its pranks of Wednesday by its genial tone at Brighton Beach yesterday, and 3,000 followers of racing sunned themselves on the brick ter-race in the intervals between the jostling natches in the ring. Instead of being disheartened by the disasters of the previous day the faithful turned up with renewed confidence and bank rolls, and set about makers. The shrewd men on the stools were onslaught smilingly. When hostilities ended favorites had pulled through. In the jockey the day with four wins and a third to his credit. The track was drying out fast, but still soft and

He was made favorite, with Caoutehoue and Autumn next in demand. Dr. Parker, at 15 to 1, showed prominently for half the journey, with the favorite close up. Turning for home, Autumn challenged Dr. Parker and beat him home by half a length. The favorite went to pieces in the stretch and finished eight lengths back.

The handicap for the older division looked so open that all but Peep o' Day and Latson accepted the conditions. A steady play on Glorian sent him to the post favorite, with Whistling Con and Sailor Ring equal second choices. Such good ones as Siy Fox, Bannock and Lady Marlan were passed over by the shrewd division. Siy Fox and Dutch Skater, as usual, were slow to begin, and did not get among their horses for half the journey. Then Siy Fox went up through his field in rare style, but he dropped out of it again almost abruptly. Meanwhile Glorian was pegging away in front and he lasted long enough to win in a drive by a length from Bannock, who closed very fast in the stretch and best Sailor King a length for the place. The rest finished about as fast as Clydesdales.

General Maceo was made an odds-on favorite for the opening race, but despite the cheerful news on the bulletin board he failed ingloriously. Continental showed the way throughout, and won by three lengths from Longacre, who beat the favorite a neck. Maher rode the winner, and followed his hand with a clever victory on Tender, who overhauled the favorite, Murillo's doubtful pipes were said to be in per-The Committee Appointed by the National Assembly Last February Has Not Discussed the Racing Question. President Potter of the L. A. W. sat in his office vesterday handling an assortment of photographs taken in all parts of the country and showing stretches of evels paths. They are to be used in the forthcoming book to be published by the League. The photographs, ven unarranged as they were, made a powerful object lesson on the value of such paths to cyclists and horsemen alike. They reveal picturesque glimpees of suburban roads where orsemen travel without worrying about corchers and running beside a path that takes up no valuable room, but gives to wheelmen a chance to spin easily along over a good surface, unmolested by the horses. In the course of an informal chat Mr. Potter was asked by a reporter of The Sun what was going to become of bicycle

Sr. Lovis, July 14.—Good weather, a fast track, big card and lively betting were the features at the Fair Grounds to-day. Summaries:

There are no contests that I prefer to them. Any one who has ever represented me as being opposed to bicycle racing has grossly misunderstood my position. I believe in it and want to see it continue and prosper, and I feel Skate, 112 (J. McDonald), 9 to 10, third. Time, 14216.
Fifth Race—Seven furlongs.—Belle Bramble, 102 (Snell), 40 to 1, won; Loving Cup, 98 (Lines), 9 to 5, second; Lord Fairfax, (W. Dean), 7 to 10, third. Time, 1:28.

Committee had done anything toward getting ready its report on the question of the League passing the control of racing into the hands of some other organization. This work was placed in the hands of the committee by the National Assembly held at St. Louis last February, the report to be returned at the next assembly. Mr. Potter said that a popular misapprehension seems to exist concerning what the committee was appointed to do. It has been reported that it was to investigate and make returns upon the advisability of the League abandoning the government of racing, whereas the committee or not there is in existence any organization that is equipped and competen ization that is equipped and competent to take control of cycle racing. Under such circumstances the committee might report in the affirmative, and yet the assembly would not be called upon to vote racing control out of the hands of the League. According to Mr. Potter there has been no discussion between the members of the committee, and will not be until the racing season is over. Each member of the committee, which is composed of the President and two Vice-Presidents of the League, has been doing his own investigating and forming his own conclusions, but no one knows what the other thinks on the subject. An unattached rider of Manhattan relates

An unattached rider of Manhattan relates a bit of experience concerning how the intelligent policeman was fooled with regard to the unlighted lamp. It is, perhaps, fortunate that the happening was not one through which other riders desiring to evade the law are apt to profit because nowhere in the consolidated city is the ordinance requiring bicycles to carry lamps after sunset enforced to an exemplary degree. The circumstance in point was an unusual one, and if the wheelman had not had a lamp on his wheel that was fit to be lighted he could not have hoodwinked the policeman as he did. All the rider needed was a match, but, according to his own story, he rode six miles and reached home without a light, although once he was halted by a policeman who let him proceed after satisfying himself that the lamp which had not been lighted had just gone out. The subterfuge of riders when halted by a cop, because of their lamps being out, and acting surprised and protesting that if so it could not have been the case more than a second, has been played out ever since one foxy officer had wit enough to put his hand on a lamp to find out whether it was hot or cold, and arrested the prevaricating rider when he found the lamp to be as lacking in heat as the paving stones. This trick is now common on the part of policemen, and many riders who have been caught out with unfilled lamps and had to sneak home have racked their brains for some artifice by which the test might be circumvented. It was by means of an acetylene gas lamp that the cyclist in point beat the game, although he did not start with that intention. The lamps in which calcium carbide is used to generate acetylene gas get hot without being lighted immediately after the stopper is turned and the water begins to drop on the carbide. The heat is caused by the decomposition. After turning on the water he had two matches blow out while trying to light the lamp. He found that scaled without thinking to turn off the water. He expected to find some person or place from whic saddle without thinking to turn off the water. He expected to find some person or place from which to get a match, but he found the zealous policeman first. As he started to tell the exact truth he absent-mindedly put his hand on the lamp, and felt that it was decidedly warm. He instantly modified his story, and told the old yarn of its having just gone out and having no matches. The officer promptly felt of the lamp, and was satisfied from the heat that it had been lighted not leng before. The cop did not have a match, and was so shocked to find one rider, as he thought, using the old excuse truthfully that he permitted the wheelman to proceed in search of a match. The cyclist did not try to get one, but left his lamp generating and expending gas. match. The cyclist up have and expending gas, left his lamp generating and expending gas, and, according to his own confession, he went along looking for more cops to conquer and was disappointed at not being stopped again. When he reached home his lamp had consumes as much carbide as if it had been lighted, but have the locks worth more than the

After a couple of weeks of doubt, with conflicting reports from trainers and managers floating about, it nowlooks as if Jimmy Michael will give to Tom Linton, his former rival in England, a great battle for the honors at twenty miles at the Manhattan Beach track to-morrow. Yesterday morning the little Welshman worked out five miles in 8 minutes and 54 seconds, and in the afternoon, at 5 o'clock, he went twelve miles in 21 minutes and 25 seconds. The time by miles was: 1.43, 3.29, 5.10, 7.90, 8.48, 10.37, 12.28, 14.17, 18.04, 17.54, 19.41, 21.25. Linton has been at the track since Wednesday, but has not been doing any training because his pacing machines have not arrived. Edouard Taylore put in a remarkably fast five-mile spin yesterday, when a still wind was blowing. He covered the distance behind pace in 8 minutes and 45 seconds. "whitewash" if the evidence warranted anything else.

It was suggested by Secretary-Trensurer Bull yesterday that it would be a good plan for the officials of the L. A. W. to issue a statement relative to the Doll case, in which the position of the League might be made clear. Bull's idea was that by refusing to support Doll in his effort to use the Speedway the League did not relinquish any of its rights or repudiate any of the principles for which it has stood, but the organizations wanted if understood that wheelmen were not hogs and asked only to be considered as citizens the same as others. Bull went to see Counsellor Miner on the subject and found him of much the same mind as himfelf. Miner says that he was misquoted by Doll when put in the light of saying that if wheelmen gave up the Speedway to the horsemen they would get a big cycle path.

FIGHTING.

New Articles for Corbett and McCoy to Sign -" Honest" John Kelly for Referes,

The last obstacle in the much-talked-of match between Jim Corbett and Kid McCoy regarding whether there should be any hitting in the clinches or the breakaway has been overcome. Corbett, after much persuasion, yielded this point at a meeting yesterday between Billy Gray and George Considine, at the former's office in West Twenty-seventh street. Gray said that McCoy did not object so much to the hitting on the breakaway as striking when embraced and told Considine that rather than let the fight fall through McCoy would meet Corbett without parting clean. Considine, however, concluded that breaking clean and with inlighting barred would be a more judicious way of having the encounter settled and agreed to let the struggle be fought that way.

and agreed to let the struggle be fought that way.

Then the question of referee was brought up.

Either Bat Masterson or 'Honest' John Kelly will suit us,' said Considine. Kelly is agreeable to us,' responded Gray, and without further ado he was chosen. All these points and details naturally made the original agreement null and void and the document was destroyed. The Hawthorne A. C. of Buffalo will present a new agreement at another meeting, which will be held this afternoon. As both are apparently eager to box it is thought that there will be no chance of either crawling. McCoy forestalled such a possibility by wiring Gray yesterday from Ballston as follows:

If Corbott doesn't want to sign articles to fight me

If Corbett doesn't want to sign articles to fight me get Fitzsimmons. get Pitzsimmons.

It was learned yesterday that "Honest "John Kelly had decided not to officiate as referee. In that event But Masterson will be asked to serve. Both McCoy and Corbett favor himself, however, may releat before this afternoon and consent to act.

It is understood that the club may stretch the limit of the bout from twenty to twenty-free rounds. Should Sept. 10, the date selected for the big struggle, prove cloudy, which will necessitate the postponement of the fight, at twenty-round "go" between Kid Broad and Mike Sears will be fought. There will also be a ten-round bout between two middleweights. These contests will be furnished gratis to the ticket holders of the main attraction.

Maher Refuses to Fight Jeffries for a Percentage of the Receipts.

A match between Jim Jeffries and Peter Maher is as far off as ever. Last night Tom O'Rourke met both Billy Delaney and Maher at the Sturtevant House. Delaney, who represents Jeffries, was ready to concede anything in order to get the Irishman to fight. O'Rourke said that he was prepared to give ample time to Peter in which to build himself up and have the mill pulled off the latter part of September. "Il be in good shape by that time and will agree to box Jeffries then for twenty-five rounds or more, if necessary." Then, after a

"I'll be in good shape by that time and will agree to box Jeffries then for twenty-five rounds or more, if necessary." Then, after a pause, he asked: "How much money will you give for the meeting?"

"I'll offer you no money," said O'Bourke, "If you want to box at my club you'll have to fight on percentage. You're no better than any one else."

"Then I won't fight," returned Maher, and the big pugilist walked away.

Both Delaney and O'Rourke told Maher what they thought of him. "Jeffries came all the way from San Francisco," said Delaney, "a distance of 3,000 miles, to meet any one, ware willing to go on for a percentage, and can's see why Maher should object. I guess he is getting a big head because he beat an old man like Goddard."

O'Rourke declares that Maher will never receive another chance in the East to box any one unless he consents to face Jeffries, as he promised.
